THE EIGHT HOUR LAW.

The proposed sight hour law in coal mines is now before the legislature. A summary of it as prepared and published by the Edmonton Bulletin is given in another column. From this summary, if it is correct, and presumably it is, it appears that the government in keeping its profuse to the miners to enact the eil-bit hour day into law, its going the whele length and is giving a straight eight hour day from bank to bank.

The Frank Paper is an advocate of the eight bour law and has always advocated its enactment but it be lieves that the government has gone a step too far is making it unlawful for a man to work under ground more than eight hours if he does so from choice and is not required to by the employer and so long as he recives union wiges for the over-time, for the reason that it will seriously interferse with the coal production of she province.

We believe it to be true that the true that the province in the pr We believe it to be true that the companies operating coal mines in the province do not object to the enactment of it into law and oven if they did, their riews would not be entitled to consideration but we undurstand that the operators do object to the law imposing a penalty on an one working over-time if he so elects and gets paid for it and in that we believe they are eminents in the right. The reason for their in the right. The reason for their objection is this:

The present status of the coal me ket, co nditions which have obtained since coal mining was inaugurated in the province, together with the ca-supply situation have and do rende it next to impossible if not wholly so for a mine to load two shifts a day. The miners working eight bours, break more coal than can be loaded in that same eight hours. Therefore, to that same eight hours. Therefore, to maintain the largest output permit-ted by circumstances, the operators have siways found it necessary to load one ten hour shift a day. There-fore, if the men engaged in hauling the coal out of the mine, or transthe coal out of the mine, or trans-portation men as they are known, are not permitted to work more than sight hours, the output of a mine must be cut down by just the amount of coal that would be hauled during of oal that would be hauled during the additional two hours.

As yet but one company in Alberta has attempted to load more than one loading shift. That is the International Coal & Coke company of Coleman which during last year started to load two shifts. Notwithstanding that the C.P.R. has exerted itself to the ulmost to supply cars to keep the international company arm is loading. International company's mine loading constantly during those two shifts, i has never succeeded in doing so eve-during the last few months when railway traffic, being much decreascurring the last few months when railway trafic, bulug much decreased and other mines being clused down, has had the effect of placing many cars at the disposal of the company that would ordinarily have been awaitable. This being the case, it would be impossible for that company to load three eight hour shifts and it must therefore confine itself to awo loading shifts and its output must necessarily be very materially decreased. The same is true of the mines loading a single shift. Under the present conditions, the fransportation men in the mines receive a slipulated wage for working eight hours. That is the daily wage but they work ten hours and receive pay for two hours over-time. If shere is my injustice in that we fail to be the content of the mines of the content of the meet, is that respect, is acting ill-ne-visedly.

There may come "afty," in my five-bability will, when greater develop-ment of the mines and better rail-way facilities together with a bread-ened market will make it possible for the mines to load continuously thro-ugh the twenty four hours and when that day comes it will be well enough to talk of the mines loading eight hour shifts as the output under such conditions would not be affected.
